

How was your first day at Secondary School, how did you feel, did it get easier as the day went on?

My first day at Bishop Luffa was really exciting, but you do a lot of prep for work, like putting your name on your book, etc. It will be like this for the first week or so, if I remember correctly. It did get easier as the day went on.

My first day of secondary was really good I enjoyed it so much. I felt really nervous but excited at the same time and it got easier as the day went on and I made loads of new friends.

The first day was really nerve-racking but exciting and as the day went on I got more comfortable with being in the school but not completely, it will probably take a few weeks for you to get used to it.

My first day was really good and it definitely scary at first but it got easier as the day went on.

On my first day I was really worried about going in. We all had breakfast together in the hall, but I didn't eat much because I was nervous. The day did get better though and we didn't have to do anything difficult. The thing that really helped was that our parents had arranged a meet up in Priory Park before the start of term and nearly everyone from my tutor group went to the meet up. We all had a chance to play games and chat and when we went into school on the first day we all sort of knew each other already.
