an introduction

Student Money

LAURA ROBBIE

YOUR TIME.
YOUR PLACE.

LIFELONG LEARNING ENTITLEMENT

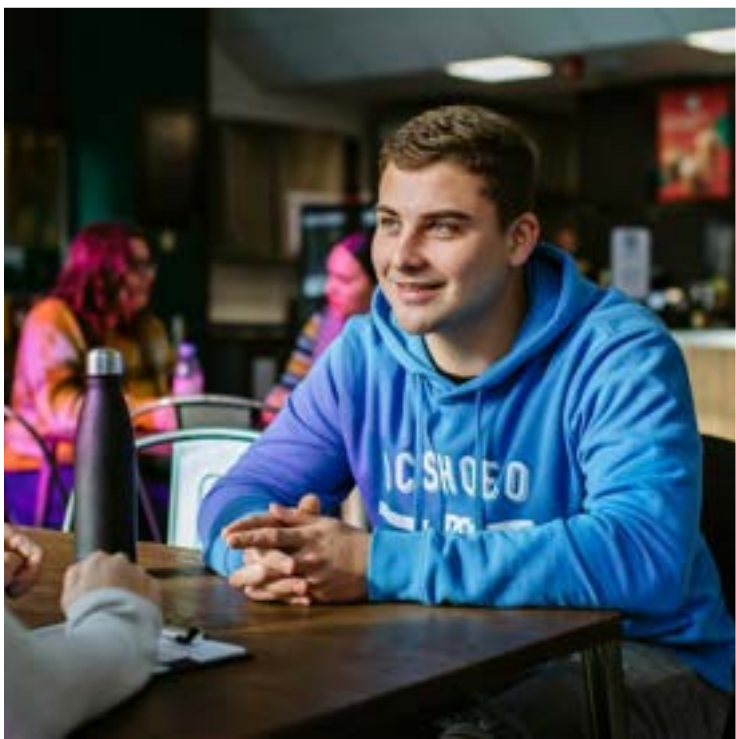

The Lifelong Learning Entitlement (LLE) is the new student funding system and is due to launch in January 2027.

- Aims to provide more flexibility, opportunity and choice for priority subjects
- Students can still choose to do 'traditional' full-time degrees
- Equivalent to 4 years full-time funding*
- Some details still to be confirmed

Most students will get the same funding that they would have got under the existing system.

Additional funding for certain courses or circumstances*

STUDENT LOAN ELIGIBILITY

Whether a student qualifies will depend on:

- University / college and course
- Previous UK funded study in higher education
- Age
- Nationality and residency status
- Credits studied and distance learning

TUITION FEES

Maximum fees at publicly funded universities in England will be:

- £10,050 a year for full-time courses (2027/28)

Fees may increase with inflation

Fees may be higher at private institutions

TUITION FEE LOAN

Students don't have to pay fees upfront; they can use a tuition fee loan. A tuition fee loan:

- Covers 100% of fees at a publicly funded UK university
- Is not based on household income
- Is paid directly to the university

MAINTENANCE LOAN

The amount a student gets depends on household income and where they live and study.

- It is paid directly to the student in instalments*
- It may not cover all living costs

Unconfirmed under LLE*

HOUSEHOLD INCOME

- Students under 25 are usually classed as dependent
- For dependent students, household income = the total taxable (gross) income of parents (for 2027 entry the 2025/26 tax year is used)
- If parents are separated, it is the parent the student usually lives with
- If you are or have been a UK care leaver your maintenance loan will not be means-tested

2027 FINANCE TIMELINE

REPAYING THE STUDENT LOAN

It's not like other loans.

- About half of students are predicted to pay back all their loan
- Repayments go up and down with earnings
- No one else is responsible for repayments
- It will not stop students from getting a mortgage
- A student loan does not affect credit score

LOAN REPAYMENTS

Monthly repayments depend on what students earn and not what they owe.

- Repayment starts in April after leaving university
- Repayments start when earning *£25,000 or more
- Repayment is 9% of everything earned above *£25,000
- After 40 years any outstanding balance is wiped

Due to increase with inflation from April 2027*

MONTHLY LOAN REPAYMENTS

Gross annual salary	Approx Monthly take home pay (after tax and NI)	Additional monthly loan repayment
£20,000	£1,493	£0
£26,000	£1,853	£7.50
£30,000	£2,093	£37.50
£40,000	£2,693	£113
£50,000	£3,293	£187.50
£60,000	£3,780	£262.50

Repayments are only based on income.

Repayments are taken directly from salary through the PAYE system.

INTEREST RATES

- The interest rate applied is based on the Retail Prices Index - RPI
- Interest does not affect monthly payments but may affect the length of time it takes to repay the loan

REPAYING YOUR STUDENT LOAN

2 graduates both earn £35,000 per year

1. Owes £30,000 student loan
2. Owes £60,000 student loan

Who pays the most back?

They pay the same = £900 per year

Because they earn the same amount

If they both earned £35,000 for 40 years, they would both repay £36,000

SUGGESTED TO-DO LIST

1. Estimate annual £££ maintenance loan
2. Check annual uni hall fees
3. Subtract hall fees from estimated loan
4. Divide by relevant number of weeks
5. Discuss a plan if extra money is needed
6. Check for uni scholarships
7. Spring 2027: Apply for Sept 2027 funding

Summer holidays:

1. Paid work to increase savings
2. Practise independence skills

- Example 1:

£9000 (loan) - £6000 (halls fees)

= £3000 for the year

÷ 40 weeks = £75 a week for other living costs

- Example 2:

£7000 (loan) - £6500 (halls fees)

= £500 for the year

÷ 40 weeks = £12.50 a week for other living costs

Household income	Maintenance loan
	Living away (£62,419)	Home (£58,287)	London (£79,131)
£25,000 or less	£16,830	£8,118	£14,135
£30,000	£10,058	£8,354	£13,349
£35,000	£9,285	£7,589	£12,563
£40,000	£8,512	£6,825	£11,777
£45,000	£7,739	£6,060	£10,991
£50,000	£6,967	£5,296	£10,205
£55,000	£6,194	£4,531	£9,419
£60,000	£5,421	£4,013	£8,632

Level 2 qualification

A level or T level is a
Level 3 qualification

Did you know?

An apprenticeship offering a degree may also be called a Level 6 or Higher Apprenticeship

In England:

In Wales:

In Northern Ireland:

LINGUISTICS

(see also English, Languages)

Hi/Hello/Good day/Good morning – Linguistics is the study of language, the way we speak to our friends, or at an interview, the expressions we use, how we express ideas or emotions. The way in which children speak, the types of language used in advertising, or in sports reporting. Courses will include morphology (the formation of words), phonetics (the study of sounds), and semantics (the study of meanings). OK?/Understand?/Cheers!

NB The points totals shown to the left of the institutions are for ease of reference only. It must not be assumed that tariff points are always used by institutions or that they can be substituted for an offer in grades. The level of an offer is not necessarily indicative of the quality of a course.
